THIS MONTH, IDW IS GOING BACK TO SCHOOL. SPECIFICALLY,

MONSTER HIGH

We couldn't be more defrighted to partner with Mattel to bring you all new stories based on some of the ghoulest—and certainly most spooktacular!—dolls around.

When Monster High debuted back in 2010, they took the world by storm by combining classic horror with high fashion and a whole lotta 21st-century cattitude. Frankie Stein, Cleo de Nile, Clawdeen Wolf, Draculaura, and their beasties quickly became iclawns while also spreading a message that it's clawsome to embrace your uniqueness. Doesn't matter if you have fangs, scales, fur, or claws, all monsters are welcome at Monster High.

IDW's comics will continue the stories of the fearsome foursome and take them on new, totally fongtastic adventures. Our new scaremaster kicks things off with two springtime events.

First, this May 4, head to your local comic book store and get your copy of our very special Free Comic Book Day Monster High issue. It features an all-new prologue to the upcoming series, as well as the "boo's who" on all the ghoulst monsters in the series.

Then, head back to the shop at the end of the month for Monster High Pride 2024, a special one-shot comic book created to skelebrate Pride Month. It features two stories about LGBTQIA+ love... Well, kind of. Clawdeen and Toralei are totally claws over tails for each other, but Kieran Valentine thinks love sucks.

Behind the screams, authors like Jacque Aye (the mastermind behind New Scaremaster), Megan Brown, and Hannah Templer have been brewing up scream-worthy stories. And artists like Siobhan Keenan, Luciannys Camacho, and Caroline Shuda are concocting gore-geous art. But they're going batty keeping the stories a secret!

If this freak peak doesn't have you dying for the launch of Monster High next month, then I don't know what will! No fear pressure!
